

A Few Thoughts from a Shepherd

Patience: the quality of being patient, the bearing of provocation, annoyance, misfortune, or pain, without complaint, loss of temper, irritation or the like. This definition is a fairly challenging attribute to display in this season of time for which we find ourselves. Many times we fail to remember patience is a fruit of the Spirit (Galatians 5:22). Therefore, it is something as followers of Jesus others should be able to see in us and we see in each other. We would be wise to note as lack of patience leads to impulsiveness, words without conscience, selfishness, etc. I know we “just want to be done with this pandemic and to be over it” but maybe God is providing us a teaching moment to learn and develop patience. My hope and prayer this week for us is we will become more patient, we will remember what God has done for us and is doing for us in these times.

Grace and peace,
Frank Weaver
